Letter to Software Vendors

We wanted to thank you again for visiting the Aperi booth at Storage Networking World and invite you to an Aperi Webcast we're hosting on July 11 to celebrate our one-year anniversary! As part of the Webcast we'll show a live demonstration with the latest release of the Aperi framework, as well as demonstrate what Novell is doing with Aperi and Linux. This is a great opportunity to speak with developers in the community and to learn how easy it is to get started using the Aperi open source storage framework.

> Aperi Webcast & Demo
> When: Wednesday, July 11 at 2-3pm (EDT)
>
> North American participants: 800-847-8127
> International participants: 212-341-7083
> Web Login information: www.readytalk.com; Access Code: 2241254

The call will consist of both audio and Web components, so if you want to listen to the call, you must dial into the audio portion. We also suggest you click here to test your system's support for Java prior to the call. Subscribers to the Aperi mailing list will also be sent a reminder the week before the event.

As a software vendor, you might be including storage infrastructure software as part of your solution. If so, you owe it to yourself to see how an open source community can help your organization lower development costs and spur innovation. Come join us for this Webcast and see us demonstrate how easy it is to get started with Aperi.

Again, we thank you for visiting with us at the Storage Networking World conference, and we look forward to your participation and feedback as we continue to build momentum with the Aperi project!
