The Eclipse Development Process

• Open source rules of engagement
• Governance, structure, definitions, reviews
• General framework for projects
• Day-by-day development rules/process is defined by the project
Open Source Rules of Engagement

• Transparent
  – Project discussions, minutes, deliberations, project plans, plans for new features, and other artifacts are open, public, and easily accessible

• Open
  – The same opportunity to all
  – Everyone participates with the same rules

• Meritocracy
  – The more you contribute the more responsibility you will earn
  – Committer/Project lead elections
Vendor Neutrality

• Open to all comers, including competitors!
• Vendor neutral resources and services
  – Project website
  – Issue tracker
  – Mailing lists and forums
  – Downloads
  – VCS/Git
• Committers must work in the open
• Freedom of action
  – GitHub services backed up on EF servers
Three Communities

- Users
  - Users are, well... users

- Adopters
  - Individuals, groups, organizations
  - Build products, extensions, based on your project

- Developers
  - Contributors, committers
Writing code is fun, but...

- Open source rules of engagement
  - Transparency, openness, meritocracy
- Have project-specific diversity goals
  - Building diversity takes work
- Actively court contributors
- Be responsive when they do come
  - “Kill with kindness”
Contribution Guide

- Issue tracking (Bugzilla)
  - “Help wanted” issues

Buildship

Buildship is a collection of Eclipse plug-ins that provide support for building software using Gradle.

Buildship aims to provide a deep integration of Gradle into Eclipse. Buildship also aims to make the Eclipse IDE more powerful by allowing the user to do more from within the IDE.

Buildship 1.0 is targeted towards Gradle users. Later versions will target Gradle build masters.
